GEEWA DRAFTS EASTERN EUROPEAN GAMES INDUSTRY HEAVYWEIGHTS FOR ITS TEAM

Prague, 29th October 2012

Geewa continues to enlist big name games industry professionals, with Martin Strnad and Jakub Schimer joining to spearhead new projects. Over 50 professionals from 10 countries now develop cutting edge online multiplayer games at Geewa.

Geewa recently managed to hire substantial new members for its team, who bring priceless experience to the development of upcoming Geewa titles. The key role lies with the veteran games industry duo of Martin Strnad, Senior Game Designer and Jakub Schimer, Lead Flash Developer. They have gathered their unique mixture of experience at games studios of various size and alignment, ranging from local projects up to the branch of Disney Mobile. Martin Strnad and Jakub Schimer will join Geewa in November 2012.

Jakub Schimer will focus on upcoming Geewa titles, while Martin Strnad will lend his game design expertise to improvement and updates of published titles, mainly Age of Defenders. Jens Hilgers, Geewa CEO, said about the undergoing evolution of the company: "It is our team and talent that are key to our success. Martin and Jakub are two of more than 15 hires from over five different countries in the last three months and we are still on the search for more motivated and smart game enthusiasts from all over the world to join our kick-ass team!"

It is not only the Games Development unit that is getting a significant boost as Miroslav Cervený joins Geewa in the position of Senior Data Analyst. Miroslav comes straight from eBay carrying senior expertise in data mining, modelling and analysis. Miroslav is one of two people forming the new Business Intelligence unit at Geewa.

The Geewa team is not only comprised of outstanding professionals, it is also remarkably diverse with the current country roster being as such: Czech Republic, Slovakia, Germany, Great Britain, Poland, Russia, Romania, Hungary, Greece and Mexico.
